

132. The commissioners of said town, or a majority of them, shall be judges of all elections for commissioners, and the proceedings thereof shall be recorded under their direction; and every commissioner, before he shall proceed to open an election, shall make oath that he will faithfully and impartially permit every person to vote at such election who shall be qualified to vote for a commissioner of said town, and that he will not suffer any person to vote at such election who shall not in his judgment be qualified to vote.

133. If an election shall not, from any cause, be held at the time fixed by the commissioners for holding the regular election, an election may be held at any other time thereafter upon ten days' notice being given by the judges of election.

134. Every commissioner, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall make oath before some justice of the peace that he will diligently and faithfully, according to the best of his judgment, perform the duties of a commissioner of said town, without favor, partiality or prejudice, and a certificate of such qualification shall be returned by the justice to the commissioners and be filed and recorded among their proceedings.

135. The said commissioners, or a majority of them, shall meet at such public place within the limits of the town as shall be previously notified on the first Monday in every third month after an election, and as much oftener as they may think proper.

136. They may appoint and qualify a clerk, who shall keep a record of their proceedings in well bound books to be provided by them for that purpose, and to be open to the inspection of all persons interested.

137. They shall annually, after ten days' notice of the time of the appointment, by advertisement set up at the court-house in said town, appoint a bailiff, and shall prescribe his duties.

138. They may pay their clerk and bailiff a reasonable compensation for their services.

139. They may from time to time recommend such plans and regulations as they shall judge necessary for the removal of nuisances, for the prevention of swine and geese going at large, or any filth, litter or obstruction from being thrown or left in the
